

MODERN LUXURY

DC

FEARLESS & FABULOUS

3 Women of Style
You Need to Know!

DAY & NIGHT

Glam Fall Fashion Has
You Covered

PLUS

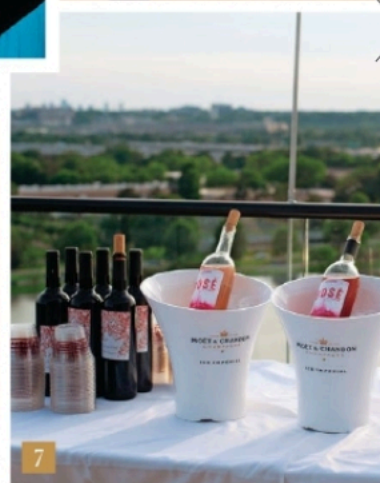

Lagerfeld's Last Collection
for Fendi. All About Angie
Goff & the REACH's
Female Vanguard

THE INCOMPARABLE LAURA DERN

Brighter Than Ever

on the SCENE

BY JACLYN JERMYN

PETAL-PUSHERS

This year's Rebloom on the Roof grew to new heights.

1. Interior designer Pamela Harvey and Erika Bonnell in a statement necklace
2. The patio offered designer eye candy.
3. Michael and Melinda Winn
4. Board member Liz Levin chatted with guests before addressing the crowd.
5. Co-hosts Barry Dixon and Will Thomas
6. Jack Herrmann and Michael DiGiuseppe listened up.
7. City Winery's alfresco vino tastings

THE PARTY La Vie's penthouse was the place to be when Room to Rebloom held its fifth annual fundraiser. Blossoms abounded: Copies of Living Floral: Entertaining and Decorating With Flowers were signed by contributor, celeb interior designer and event co-host Barry Dixon. And the Champagne bar, sponsored by Sally Steponkus Roche of her eponymous firm, was stocked with floral wine-glass charms, lest anyone lose track of their drink. THE PEOPLE Along with Dixon, TTR Sotheby's International Realty agent Will Thomas hosted the soiree. Showing their petal power were some 200 attendees, such as board members Kia Weatherspoon, Lyn McGann, Christie Stute and Sherry Moeller; J.D. Ireland's Joe Ireland and Julie Weber Gligor; and DC magazine Editor-in-Chief Kristen Schott (Modern Luxury was a partner). BEST IN SHOW A silent auction, a luxe sample sale and a Kendra Scott pop-up shop kept things fresh, as did the event's goal. The nonprofit pairs domestic violence survivors with design resources to help them create peaceful living spaces—with plenty of room to grow.